National Weather Service October to December 2025 Outlook: For the Lower Rio Grande Valley/Deep South Texas Region

- Normal to warmer than normal temperatures are expected to persist through Autumn 2025.
- Precipitation odds/trends will begin dropping across much of the region.
- The odds for drought/dryness expanding over Deep South Texas through December are increasing.
- The combined share of water in Amistad and Falcon should continue at or below Stage 2 and 3 triggers (25% or less) until further notice.
